- General admission requirements and information for applicants with foreign high school leaving certificates

Applicants who do not have a German higher education entrance qualification can study in Germany if their foreign high school leaving certificate is equivalent to a higher education entrance qualification gained in Germany.

Assessing and reviewing your certificates is carried out as part of the application process, during which your certificates are checked to see if they are directly comparable with German higher education entrance qualifications (e.g. "Abitur", German secondary school leaving certificate). If this is the case, you have direct entry to higher education and can apply directly for a degree program.

If your higher school leaving certificate is not directly comparable to a German higher education entrance qualification, you will be required to attend a Studienkolleg before beginning to study and must pass the assessment test.

The following websites provide information on how your local certificate will be assessed:

<http://anabin.kmk.org> (only in German, official data base of the Central Office for Foreign Education – ZAB)

www.uni-assist.de/en/tools/check-university-admission/ (in English)

Furthermore, applicants with foreign high school leaving certificates must prove that their German language skills are sufficient for studying in Germany. Depending on how your high school leaving certificate is assessed (direct higher education entry or Studienkolleg) the requirements in terms of German language skills vary.

Applicants with a direct higher education entrance qualification and those applying for a place at a Studienkolleg apply in two different processes.

➤ Application process for direct higher education entry

Your foreign high school leaving certificate qualifies you for direct higher education entry and you would like to apply for direct admission to a first semester at RheinMain University of Applied Sciences. You should thus apply directly via the uni-assist online-portal – www.uni-assist.de – for your chosen degree program.

• Dialog-oriented Service Procedure (DoSV)

Because of the participation of the RheinMain University of Applied Sciences in the dialog-oriented service procedure (DoSV) with some degree programs starting in the winter semester of 2018/2019, it is necessary to register at www.hochschulstart.de before applying. This applies to the following programs:

- Business Administration
- Business & Law in Accounting and Taxation
- Digital Business Management
- Health Economics
- Insurance and Finance
- International Management

Starting with the winter semester 2019/20

- Education in Childhood and Youth
- Health Care Issues in Social Work
- Law and Management in Social Work
- Social Work
- Social Work (part-time)

What does DoSV mean?

The dialog-oriented service procedure (DoSV) coordinates the allocation of undergraduate degree course placements with locally restricted admissions on a national level.

This procedure supports the universities in their admission procedures and contributes to the avoidance of empty study places. The advantage of the procedure is that the applicant can see all the applications submitted to the DoSV – the platform www.hochschulstart.de – and can check the status there at any time.

Further information about DoSV and the application process for DoSV degree programs can be found at www.hochschulstart.de

How does the application via DoSV work?

You will find a check list on the uni-assist web site with the most important steps to applying with the DoSV procedure:

www.uni-assist.de/en/how-to-apply/plan-your-application/hochschulstart-dosv/

Step 1:

Register via www.hochschulstart.de. After successful registration, you will receive an applicant ID (BID) and an applicant authentication number (BAN), which is available under the button "My Data". Make a note of your BID and BAN, as these are required for online application with uni-assist.

Step 2:

Apply via uni-assist. Information about applying to uni-assist can be found on the homepage www.uni-assist.de/bewerben.html. You can also find the information about application via uni-assist on page 11 of this document.

Step 3

After a positive evaluation, uni-assist will automatically forward your application in electronic form to RheinMain Hochschule, where your admission will be decided. When your application has been accepted, your data will be transferred to our Campus Management System HSRM COMPASS and you will receive your personal access data by e-mail. This is important for the further admission process.

At www.hochschulstart.de you can follow the processing status of your application (s), set priorities, accept the admission offers, which are submitted to you and also your rejection or exclusion notification. You will be informed about changes of your status via e-mail. Nonetheless, check your access on a regular basis in order to be able to accept your desired degree program and ensure your place at university. Please be aware of the valid deadlines of the decision phase, in which you must prioritize your desired course of studies.

Step 4: How do I get my desired course of studies?

In order to get an admission for your personal top university after applying for several applications, you have two options:

The easiest way to get the best possible course of studies is prioritization. After uni-assist has sent your approved applications to the university and the evaluation, you place your applications in order of your personal preferences. Please note that all applications after rank 12 become inactive. If you have done the prioritization with care, you do not have to do anything anymore, because at the end of the decision-making phase, your best possible admission offer will be converted into an admission. You will receive an admission letter and can enroll at the Hochschule RheinMain.

If you prefer to create clear conditions early on, check the status of your applications on a regular basis and actively accept the admission to www.hochschulstart.de. You will receive an admission letter and can enroll at the Hochschule RheinMain.

As soon as you have accepted an offer or your best possible offer has been converted into an admission, all other admission offers expire. This step cannot be undone.

After receiving an admission letter, please note the deadlines for enrollment mentioned in the admission letter.

- Information about the uni-assist application process

Please apply directly via uni-assist's online application portal: www.uni-assist.de.

Please read all the application information carefully in advance and then complete the online application.

Print the application form and send it directly to uni-assist with all the required documents (see application checklist on page 14):

uni-assist e.V.
11507 Berlin
Germany

We advise to apply well in advance so that you still have the possibility to send missing documents within the deadline if necessary.

Your application will be reviewed by experts at uni-assist in the uni-assist procedure against RheinMain University of Applied Sciences admission requirements. If you do not yet meet the formal admission requirements, uni-assist will inform you accordingly and ask you to submit the required records at a later date.

Please be sure to state your e-mail address, if you have one, so that uni-assist can contact you quickly and easily to clarify any questions!

Should the experts' assessment be positive, uni-assist will forward your application to RheinMain University of Applied Sciences, which will then decide to offer you a place or not.

If uni-assist does not return a positive result regarding your admission eligibility, you may contact RheinMain University of Applied Sciences directly. Please include uni-assist's letter of rejection and explain the errors in uni-assist's expert opinion. RheinMain University of Applied Sciences will then make a decision about your admission.

After a positive evaluation, uni-assist will automatically forward your application in electronic form to RheinMain Hochschule, where your admission will be decided. When your application has been accepted, your data will be transferred to our Campus Management System HSRM COMPASS and you will receive your personal access data by e-mail. This is important for the further admission process. You can check your application status under HSRM COMPASS and see further information concerning admission

See Information on data collection in the application and admission process at the RheinMain University of Applied Sciences on pages 15 – 17.

Enrollment

After the letter of admission has been received, enrollment takes place at the RheinMain University of Applied Sciences. You do not have to be present at enrollment, it is sufficient you send all the required documents mentioned in the admission letter until the deadline date printed in the admission letter.

The admission letter is a standard letter. It mentions that you have to submit notarized copies of your certificates. Please note that you do not have to submit notarized copies of documents you already submitted via uni-assist.
